MALCOLM GLADWELL

As many of you know, Malcolm Gladwell is a writer for The New Yorker magazine. An archive of his articles is on <http://www.gladwell.com/archive.html>. Those of you who provide training on interviewing skills might be interested in his viewpoints. I feel that the questioning techniques to uncover behavioral examples are effective. The ones he cites are good examples of when to dig deeper.

REMARKABLE RESOURCE

"Big Dog" is quite a popular brand. This site has nothing to do with the clothing chain. It has some great resources for trainers: <http://www.nwlink.com/~donclark/leader/leadtrn.html> You can check out the other parts of the site by clicking on the top buttons.
